

BOMA Day 2009

Modern Image Ladies Foursome

For the second year in a row, Modern Image Landscaping sponsored an all ladies foursome at the annual BOMA Day golf tournament sponsored by the BOMA Ft. Lauderdale/Palm Beaches. We are happy to announce that our foursome was the repeat winner of the "Bringing Up The Rear" award for shooting the highest score. Regardless of our last place finish, fun was had by all.

A DIFFERENT TYPE OF HEDGE MATERIAL

You're probably already aware that South Florida has been invaded by a new pest called the Fig Whitefly, which has caused tremendous damage to Ficus hedges. Thankfully, there are treatments available to minimize the damage, but we are learning now that these treatments will probably need to be done on a regular basis to ward off future infestations.

So is there an alternative hedge material to Ficus? Absolutely! Ficus has reached its level of popularity because it is inexpensive to buy and grows quickly. But, there are several attractive options that you might want to consider, and they'll end up costing you less over the life of the hedge. For a formal hedge you can consider using Cocoplum (a native with green and reddish leaves and purple berries), Silver Buttonwood (a native with beautiful gray green foliage), or Arboricola, among others. For a more informal hedge you can consider using Ixora (with heavy red flowers), Plumbago (with blue flowers), or Firebush (native with orange and red flowers). So next time you have the chance to plant a new hedge on your property, think outside the Ficus box and choose a different type of plant that provides more interest and costs less to maintain.

CLIENT CORNER

Wilton Tower & Windward at the Villages Managed by RK Properties

Modern Image currently has the pleasure of maintaining the landscapes at two multi-residential properties which are owned and operated by RK Properties. We started maintaining the landscape at Wilton Towers, a 10-story high rise apartment building located in Wilton Manors, in January 2009. And most recently, we were hired as the landscape maintenance provider for Windward at the Villages, a garden style apartment complex located in West Palm Beach. We enjoy working with Betsy Collison, RK Properties Regional Supervisor, and her staff on the projects.
